The Magpie Project

Newham

Children of parents who are easily "unplugged" from the system would suffer desperately if it were not for charities like the Magpie Project, who offer access to free support and food. For some 60 women and their under 5-year-old children, the Magpie Project plugs the gap, and has created a hub of well-being for those in most need.

The Project supports families seeking asylum, without recourse to public funding, and those struggling through hard times. The team provide a safe space for children to play, nutritious food, and an opportunity for mums to socialise with others going through something similar. Families come from as far as Croydon, and from neighbouring Ilford and Dagenham to access the Magpie's support services. The need has continued to creep up, with mums on the waiting list.

"We have seen a marked increase in demand for these services. Mums in rented housing are really struggling with the rise in fuel bills"

The Soup Kitchen

Camden

The Soup Kitchen, Tottenham Court Road, is a resource for the homeless, elderly, lonely and "food poor", providing free and nutritious hot meals made from City Harvest surplus, clothes, and toiletries. The space offers a sense of belonging and community for those who are in need. The Soup Kitchen has recently launched Europe's first on-site mental health drop-in centre within a soup kitchen.

"City Harvest is an incredible charity [...] enabling us to offer food made with amazing, fresh ingredients that are perhaps out of reach for a lot of people and we're passionate about making good food accessible to everyone!"
